SDG4: Quality Education

4.3.3 - Does your university as a body educational host events at university that are open to the general public: executive education programmes (this refers to short courses for people who are not attending the university; this specifically excludes courses like MBA) and/or vocational training?

The Continuing Education Department at Al-Noor University is preparing to publish its annual guide, which will include over 150 planned courses, lectures, and workshops for the academic year 2024-2025. The guide will detail the titles, organizers, schedules, and components of these activities across the university's colleges and scientific departments. It is being coordinated with the university's Media and Government Communication Department and the offices of the university's Vice Presidents for Scientific and Administrative Affairs. The department has completed the preparations for issuing this guide, which will be available in both printed and electronic formats for those interested in participating. The aim of the continuing education program is to update graduates and professionals in government and private sector institutions with the latest developments in their fields.

Al-Noor University hosted a comprehensive developmental workshop at its Central Library, aimed at supporting and enhancing cultural and governmental organizations in collaboration with international entities. The workshop saw the participation of prominent local organizations operating in Mosul and across Nineveh Province. The event was overseen by the Public Relations Department of the Ministry of Culture, Tourism, and Antiquities, UNESCO, the Non-Governmental Organizations Department of the General Secretariat of the Council of Ministers, and the Trade Bank of Iraq (TBI). The workshop was organized and coordinated by Beitna, the cultural and social front of Al-Noor University.
