

Sustainable Development Goals

Peace, Justice and Strong Institutions

16 PEACE, JUSTICE AND STRONG INSTITUTIONS

Encouraging the establishment of peaceful communities where no one is marginalized is essential for achieving sustainable development. This involves ensuring that everyone has access to justice, building effective and accountable institutions that are inclusive at all levels, and significantly reducing illicit flows of money and weapons. Additionally, it includes enhancing the recovery and return of stolen assets and combating all forms of organized crime..

College of Law

In the presence of Professor Dr. Yassin Taha Al-Hajjar, President of Alnoor University, the College of Law at the university hosted Judge Saadoun Ismail Ibrahim from the Nineveh Investigative Court. He delivered an important lecture titled: "The Position of the General Amnesty Law No. 27 of 2016 on Perpetrators of Terrorism Crimes." The session was chaired by Assistant Professor Dr. Ahmed Mustafa, Dean of the College, and was attended by Assistant Professor Dr. Nabil Ahmed Jirjis, Vice President of the University for Administrative Affairs, and Assistant Professor Dr. Ismail Abdul Wahab, Vice President of the University for Scientific Affairs.

