Sustainable Development Goals

Peace, Justice and Strong Institutions

16 PEACE, JUSTICE AND STRONG INSTITUTIONS

Encouraging the establishment of peaceful communities where no one is marginalized is essential for achieving sustainable development. This involves ensuring that everyone has access to justice, building effective and accountable institutions that are inclusive at all levels, and significantly reducing illicit flows of money and weapons. Additionally, it includes enhancing the recovery and return of stolen assets and combating all forms of organized crime..

Under the patronage of Assistant Professor Dr. Nabil Ahmed Jirjis, Vice President of Alnoor University for Administrative Affairs, the Follow-up Department at the university presidency organized an awareness seminar titled: "Universities and Their Role in Shielding Youth Against Extremism." The seminar featured three lectures, followed by an engaging discussion between the lecturers and participating university students. The event was also attended by Dr. Ahmed Mustafa, Dean of the College of Law at Alnoor University.