Sustainable Development Goals

Peace, Justice and Strong Institutions

16 PEACE, JUSTICE AND STRONG INSTITUTIONS

Encouraging the establishment of peaceful communities where no one is marginalized is essential for achieving sustainable development. This involves ensuring that everyone has access to justice, building effective and accountable institutions that are inclusive at all levels, and significantly reducing illicit flows of money and weapons. Additionally, it includes enhancing the recovery and return of stolen assets and combating all forms of organized crime..

As part of the ongoing collaboration between academic and judicial institutions, Alnoor University, in cooperation with the Presidency of the Nineveh Court of Appeal, organized a specialized training workshop entitled: "Fair Leadership and Protocol of Conduct," as part of the First Justice Forum. The workshop was attended by the President of the Court of Appeal and his deputies, the Public Prosecutor, as well as a number of judges and members of the Public Prosecution. The workshop was delivered by international trainer Ammar Al-Nuaimi, who addressed key topics related to developing leadership skills in judicial work and ways to enhance the balance between legal competence and leadership awareness in judges' performance. Alnoor University's participation reaffirms its commitment to its societal role and its continuous support for professional and institutional development programs across various sectors, particularly the judicial sector.