17 PARTNERSHIPS FOR THE GOALS

The world today is more interconnected than ever before. Improving access to technology and knowledge is a crucial way to exchange ideas and foster innovation. Additionally, coordinating policies to help developing countries manage their debts, as well as encouraging investment in the least developed countries, is vital for achieving growth and sustainable development.

Partnerships For The Goals

At the official invitation of Istanbul–Cerrahpaşa University in Turkey, a delegation from Alnoor University, headed by Professor Dr. Ismail Abdulwahab, Assistant President of the University for Scientific Affairs, and including Dr. Mohammed Zuhair Zidan, Director of Cultural Relations, and Dr. Nabeel Nouruddin, Director of the Center for the Preservation of Cultural Heritage, visited the university's campus in Istanbul.

During the visit, a preliminary agreement was reached on the following:

- Allocating postgraduate seats for medical group students at Alnoor University.
- Providing summer training opportunities for a number of students.
- Sending experts and doctors from Istanbul–Cerrahpaşa University to provide clinical training.
- Transferring Turkish expertise in the field of smart health.
- Recognizing Istanbul–Cerrahpaşa University as a scientific partner in managing and training at Alnoor's Center for Medical and Pharmaceutical Research.
- Granting conditional access to Alnoor students and faculty to the university's digital library.

Both parties signed a Letter of Intent for joint academic cooperation, in a step that reflects Alnoor University's commitment to building strong international academic partnerships and opening broader horizons for its students and faculty in the fields of research, development, and training.
