Sustainable Development Goals

Peace, Justice and Strong Institutions

Encouraging the establishment of peaceful communities where no one is marginalized is essential for achieving sustainable development. This involves ensuring that everyone has access to justice, building effective and accountable institutions that are inclusive at all levels, and significantly reducing illicit flows of money and weapons. Additionally, it includes enhancing the recovery and return of stolen assets and combating all forms of organized crime..

Under the direction of His Excellency the Minister of Higher Education and Scientific Research, Dr. Naeem Al-Abboudi, and under the supervision of the President of Alnoor University, Prof. Dr. Yaseen Taha Al-Hajjar, the Department of Psychological Counseling and Educational Guidance organized the activities of the Psychological Counseling and Educational Guidance Week. This week included various activities, workshops, and awareness lectures for students. The program of the first day featured an awareness workshop delivered by the Director of Psychological Counseling and Educational Guidance at Alnoor University, Asst. Prof. Dr. Ahmed Saeed Rasheed Al-Ta'i, titled: "The Role of University Psychological Counseling in Achieving Students' Mental Health." This was followed by a lecture presented by Lecturer Marwa Shaker Habeeb, titled: "The Role of Psychological Counseling in Eliminating Addiction." The first day's activities also included a lecture delivered by Dr. Husam Zaidan Shakr, titled: "Peaceful Coexistence Among University Students," followed by another lecture presented by Lecturer Asmaa Khalil Ibrahim and Lecturer Sara Mohammed Abdulrazzaq, titled: "Negative Behaviors on Campus."
