17 PARTNERSHIPS FOR THE GOALS

The world today is more interconnected than ever before. Improving access to technology and knowledge is a crucial way to exchange ideas and foster innovation. Additionally, coordinating policies to help developing countries manage their debts, as well as encouraging investment in the least developed countries, is vital for achieving growth and sustainable development.

College of Arts

The Department of Translation at the College of Arts, Alnoor University, received an academic delegation from the Department of Translation at the University of Mosul in an official visit aimed at strengthening academic cooperation and exchanging expertise between the two sides. The delegation was welcomed by the Dean of the College of Arts at Alnoor University, Professor Dr. Wael Al-Nahhas, accompanied by the Head of the Department of Translation, Assistant Professor Dr. Nada Salem Omar, who extended a warm welcome and delivered a comprehensive overview of the department's academic structure, programs, and the scientific and practical developments it has achieved. The visit included an extensive tour of language laboratories, simultaneous interpretation halls, and practical training centers, during which the delegation was introduced to the available facilities and student training mechanisms. A joint academic meeting was also held to discuss several shared themes, most notably developing students' skills, organizing joint scientific activities, and exploring the possibility of implementing training and collaborative programs that would enhance students' competencies and supply the labor market with advanced translation professionals. This visit comes within the framework of both institutions' efforts to strengthen scientific cooperation and exchange expertise in a manner that serves the educational process and enhances the quality of translation program outcomes at both universities.
