

Sustainable Development Goals

Peace, Justice and Strong Institutions

16 PEACE, JUSTICE AND STRONG INSTITUTIONS

Encouraging the establishment of peaceful communities where no one is marginalized is essential for achieving sustainable development. This involves ensuring that everyone has access to justice, building effective and accountable institutions that are inclusive at all levels, and significantly reducing illicit flows of money and weapons. Additionally, it includes enhancing the recovery and return of stolen assets and combating all forms of organized crime..

College of Law and Political Science

The College of Law and Political Science at Alnoor University organized a scientific workshop addressing the topic of violent extremism under the supervision of Assistant Professor Dr. Ahmed Mustafa Ali, Dean of the College. The session was moderated by Lecturer Dr. Hudhaifa Raad Ali, a faculty member of the college, while its scientific themes were presented by Assistant Professor Dr. Wajeeh Afdo Ali, Lecturer Dr. Amer Hadi Abdullah, and Assistant Lecturer Asmaa Khalil Ibrahim. The speakers discussed concepts related to violent extremism, its intellectual and social causes, methods of prevention, and the role of educational institutions in promoting community awareness and reinforcing values of moderation.

